Dear Pastor van Rooyen

ACCREDITATION: CHRISTIAN LIFE TRAINING

In 1998, SAQA accepted the responsibility to assist the Department of Education in the process of accrediting and registering Private Higher Education Institutions (PHEI) on behalf of the Council on Higher Education (CHE). The CHE, with its Higher Education Quality Committee (HEQC), was not yet in a position to assume its responsibility for the accreditation process.

SAQA initiated an important process to ensure that quality learning would take place in the private sector. Then in February 2001, SAQA had accredited the Council on Higher Education (CHE) as an ETQA, and accreditation responsibility for Private Higher Education Institutions from then on rested with the CHE.

The Christian Life Training was accredited by SAQA under the outlined arrangements. At the time the Degree of Bachelor of Ministry in Christian Counselling was issued to Anita van Rooyen in 2002, the Christian Life Training was conditionally accredited by SAQA.

Yours sincerely

CHRISTO BASSON

SAQA'S MISSION

"To ensure the development and implementation of a National Qualification Framework which contributes to the full development of each learner and to the social and economic development of the nation at large"
